The European Association of Paritarian Institutions (AEIP) is a Brussels-based advocacy organization representing the Social Protection Funds established and jointly managed by employers and trade unions within the framework of collective agreements.

Our members include pension, provident and healthcare funds from France, Germany, Italy, Belgium, Luxembourg, the Netherlands, operating under the IORP directive, the Insurance directive, or the Coordination of Social security systems regulation. In addition to their function as social protection and non-for-profit actors, our members are also institutional investors that manage long-term investments on financial markets.

AEIP represents 27 members from 15 different European countries and has a broad international network with similar institutions and universities at international level. The mission of AEIP is the enforcement of the paritarian model, the exchange of best practices and the promotion of the shared values of its members.
